Paul and Rosa were not looking forward to their holiday on a lonely farm by the sea without their parents - though there was that old stone fort to explore. But when they follow the enormous ginger cat up the steep steps to Ballig Fort, neither of them is prepared for the exciting secret world they uncover. Before long, the children are involved in a battle to save and care for a whole zoo of wild creatures, including sea-birds damaged by oil, a jackdaw called Bertie and a friendly black labrador!

The New York Times best-selling book exploring the counterproductive reactions white people have when their assumptions about race are challenged, and how these reactions maintain racial inequality. In this “vital, necessary, and beautiful book” (Michael Eric Dyson), antiracist educator Robin DiAngelo deftly illuminates the phenomenon of white fragility and “allows us to understand racism as a practice not restricted to ‘bad people’ (Claudia Rankine). Referring to the defensive moves that white people make when challenged racially, white fragility is characterized by emotions such as anger, fear, and guilt, and by behaviors including argumentation and silence. These behaviors, in turn, function to reinstate white racial equilibrium and prevent any meaningful cross-racial dialogue. In this in-depth exploration, DiAngelo examines how white fragility develops, how it protects racial inequality, and what we can do to engage more constructively.
